

At Stanford Health Care – ValleyCare, we are humbled by the generosity of all community members and local restaurants who have inquired about donating food to support our staff during the COVID-19 outbreak. Our number one priority continues to be the health and safety of our patients and staff. Due to safety concerns, we are not accepting food donations.

If you are considering a donation to Stanford Health Care – ValleyCare, we do accept financial donations through our ValleyCare Charitable Foundation. We have several programs, which will allow you to give in different ways in honor of our frontline heroes.
